

Why can't I open the document?

The document you are trying to open has dynamic content - this means that you can type directly in the document.

Not every browser can open this type of document. It appears as if you cannot open the document, and you therefore get this message.

What to do

You can open the document if you save it on your computer first. Right-click on the link and select 'Save Link As'. Then you can open the document from your computer with a PDF program.
